I. INTRODUCTION

The Complainant in this matter alleges that Liane Levetan ("Levetan"), through Levetan for Senate ("State Committee"), commissioned and paid for a consultant to conduct a poll tailored to directly benefit the Levetan for Congress Committee ("Federal Committee"), yet

1 failed to disclose it in the Federal Committee's 2004 Pre-Primary Report; and that the poll
2 expense constitutes an excessive contribution to the Federal Committee. See Complaint. In 3 addition, the Complainant alleges that payment for the poll by the State Committee violates the 4 prohibition against transfers of assets from a candidate's nonfederal campaign account to a
5 principal federal campaign account; and, finally, that the Federal Committee violated disclosure 6 requirements by failing to disclose two key pre-primary expenditures – a television ad and the 7 candidate's filing fee. Id.

8 The response asserts that the purpose of the poll was two-fold: to evaluate Levetan's 9 rating in her old district and her chances of reelection against another incumbent in the newly 10 redrawn district, as well as to evaluate her chances in a race for the Congressional seat. The 11 response also asserts that, on July 13, 2004, the Federal Committee reimbursed the State Senate
12 Committee for 50% of the cost of the poll, or $10,672.50.¹ In addition, the response admits that 13 the Federal Committee failed to disclose the correct purpose for one of its television advertising
14 disbursements and failed to include Levetan's payment of the filing fee as part of its debts and 15 obligations total on its 2004 Pre-Primary Report.

16 We believe that the State Committee appears to have transferred an in-kind contribution
17 to the Federal Committee in violation of the Act and regulations and the Federal Committee
18 failed to disclose the receipt of the in-kind contribution on its 2004 Pre-Primary Report. It also 19 appears that the Federal Committee failed to report the correct purpose for a television
20 advertising disbursement and to include Levetan's payment of a filing fee in its debts and 21 obligations figure on its 2004 Pre-Primary Report.

¹ The Federal Committee provided a copy of the reimbursement check dated July 13, 2004 along with its response.

Accordingly, we recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that the Candidate, the State Committee and the Federal Committee violated 2 U.S.C. § 441i(e)(1)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d) and the Federal Committee failed to disclose the receipt of the in-kind contribution from the State Committee in violation of 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(3)(B). Furthermore, we recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that the Federal Committee failed to report the correct purpose for a television advertising disbursement in on its 2004 Pre-Primary Report violation of 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(5) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(b)(4); and failed to include Levetan's payment of a filing fee in its debts and obligations figure on its 2004 Pre-Primary Report in violation of 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(4) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(d) but take no further action.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Public Opinion Poll

Levetan was a Georgia State Senator at the time she commissioned a public opinion poll to be conducted by Cooper & Secrest Associates in April 2004.² The public opinion poll was conducted on April 15, 17-18, 2004 and was paid for by State Senate Committee in the amount of $21,345 on April 15, 2004.³ On April 27, 2004, while she was still a State Senator, Levetan

² The poll became a major issue for Levetan soon after she announced her candidacy for Federal office and in the subsequent weeks leading up to the Congressional Primary race. Levetan received a great deal of criticism from her opponents for allowing her State Committee to pay for the entire cost of the poll. Attachment 6. Levetan initially denied that the poll was intended to benefit her Federal candidacy at all or that the Federal Committee should have paid for any of the poll costs. Id The response reflects a change in position with Respondents acknowledging that the poll was designed to benefit both the State and Federal committees on a 50/50 ratio basis. Respondents also assert that the Federal Committee's reimbursement to the State Committee for 50% of the poll cost was done "in light of political circumstances" although not "legally necessary". Id Respondents appear to be arguing that it would have been acceptable for the State Committee to pay the entire cost of a poll that benefited the Federal committee.

³ Cooper & Secrest issued a polling advisory on April 21, 2004, stating that Respondent Levetan was "uniquely positioned to claim Representative Majette's open seat" and referring to the polling results as "compelling." Attachment 3. The advisory also mentions one question asked of the 504 persons polled and the ranking of the responses in relation to each potential candidate. However, the polling advisory does not provide the nature of the specific question asked. Neither Cooper & Secrest nor Levetan made the poll contents or the poll results available to the public. As far as we have been able to determine, only the polling advisory was released to the public, and it only contained a portion of the poll results relating to Levetan's potential Federal candidacy.

announced her candidacy for Federal office in the 4th U.S. Congressional District of Georgia.⁴

The State Committee had been active since Levetan's election in 2002 and remained so during her 2004 Congressional campaign.

Contributions received and disbursements made solely for the purpose of determining whether an individual should become a candidate – for example, payments for polling, telephone calls and travel, are not “contributions” or “expenditures” within the meaning of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (“Act”). 11 C.F.R. §§ 100.72(a), 100.131(a). Nonetheless, only funds permissible under the Act may be used for such activities. Id. An individual becomes a candidate for federal office – and thus triggers the registration and reporting under the Act – when campaign activity exceeds $5,000 in either contributions or expenditures. 2 U.S.C. § 431(2)(A). However, money raised and spent solely to “test the water” does not count towards this dollar threshold until the individual decides to run for Federal office or conducts activities that indicate he or she has decided to become a candidate. 11 C.F.R. §§ 100.72(a), 100.131(a). At that point, funds already raised and spent to test the waters become contributions and expenditures.

Thus, Levetan's reporting requirements are linked to two factors – her intentions and her spending. Levetan appears to have become a candidate for Federal office on April 27, 2004, when she announced her intention to seek office and after she exceeded the dollar threshold. On that date, the testing the waters phase of her candidacy ended. The $10,672.50 she spent on her polling expenses made her a candidate. As a result, the Federal Committee was required to file

⁴ Prior to her announcement on April 27, 2003, Levetan did not undertake actions indicating she had become a candidate. For example, she did not advertise an intention to run for Federal office, refer to herself as a candidate, or raise funds in excess of what would be expected to be used for exploratory activity. See 11 C.F.R. § 100.131(b)(1) – (b)(4). The Federal Committee did not receive its first contribution, after the testing the waters phase, until May 7, 2004. See 2 U.S.C. § 431(2)(A).

1 its contributions and expenditures after May 24, 2004.⁵ However, the Federal Committee's first
2 disclosure report was required to contain all contributions received and expenditures made
3 during the "testing the waters" period regardless of the dates that the contributions were received
4 or expenditures were made. 11 C.F.R. §§ 100.72(a), 100.131(a).

5 When the State Committee paid for the entire cost of a poll, the results of which were
6 transferred to the Federal Committee, it made an in-kind contribution to the Federal Committee
7 that was reportable once Levetan became a Federal candidate. See 2 U.S.C. § 434a and 8 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d). While the State Committee reported its expenditure for the poll on its 9 2004 Election Year disclosure report filed with the Georgia Secretary of State, the Federal 10 Committee did not disclose the receipt of this in-kind contribution on its FEC 2004 Pre-Primary 11 Report filed on July 8, 2004. Attachment 1 at 3-4. This omission from the Federal Committee's 12 report violates 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(3)(B).

13 Because Levetan continued to run campaign committees for both her state senate position
14 and her election to federal office, the complaint questions whether her congressional campaign
15 was helped by expenditures made by her ongoing state senate committee account. Federal 16 candidates and officeholders, or entities directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained 17 or controlled by them, are restricted from soliciting, receiving, directing, transferring, or
18 spending "soft money", i.e. non-federal funds that are not subject to the limitations of the Act.⁶

⁵ This date is based on the 15-day period in which an individual has to designate in writing a political committee to serve as his/her principal campaign committee once he/she has become a candidate and the 10-day period in which the committee has to file a statement or organization for a total of 25 days. 2 U.S.C. §§ 432(e)(1), 433(a). Therefore, a candidate is given a maximum of 25 days from the time he/she becomes a candidate before his/her authorized committee must begin filing disclosure reports pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 434(a). Levetan designated Liane Levetan for Congress to serve as her principal campaign committee and filed the Federal Committee's Statement of Organization on May 11, 2004, in accordance with the requirements of the Act. As a result, the Federal Committee's first report was due after May 24, 2004.

⁶ We believe that there are no violations of 2 U.S.C. §§ 441i(e)(1)(B) or (e)(2) since Levetan appears to have been a legitimate state candidate at that time

2 U.S.C. § 441i(e)(1)(A). Further, transfers from a candidate's campaign committee or account for a nonfederal election to his or her principal campaign committee or other authorized committee for a Federal election are prohibited. 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d).⁷ Levetan's transfer of the poll results from the State Committee to the Federal Committee appears to have been a prohibited transfer in violation of the Act and regulations. See 2 U.S.C. § 441i(e)(1)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d).⁸

Although the State Committee initially paid for the entire cost of the poll, we agree with the Federal Committee's assertion that the poll was intended to benefit both Levetan's potential State and Federal campaigns. We are persuaded that one purpose of the poll was to aid Levetan in deciding whether to run for re-election or seek Federal candidacy. Section 106.4(a) of the regulations states that the purchase of opinion poll results by a candidate or a candidate's authorized political committee or agent is an expenditure by the candidate. 11 C.F.R. § 106.4(a). Section 106.4(e)(1) through (e)(4) provide several different methods for calculating the amount of the expenditure attributable to each candidate-recipient. 11 C.F.R. §§ 106.4(e)(1) – (e)(4). One of those methods, found in section 106.4(e)(2), provides that the amount of the expenditure attributable to the state candidate recipient Levetan and Federal candidate recipient Levetan can be computed by dividing the overall cost of the poll equally among the candidates (including State and local candidates) receiving the results. 11 C.F.R. § 106.4(e)(2). In this instance, the State Committee was acting as an agent for candidate Levetan when it purchased the opinion poll

⁷ The Commission made clear its decision to "effectively prevent the indirect use of impermissible funds in federal elections" and explained that "a prohibition on all transfers from state to federal campaigns, is the best way to address concerns raised in the Petition for Rulemaking." Explanation and Justification for 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d) at 57 Fed. Reg. 36,344 (August 12, 1992).

⁸ The State of Georgia allows corporations to make contributions to State elections so it possible that a portion of the funds used by the State Senate Committee to pay for the poll came from sources prohibited by the Act. See Ga. Code § 21-5-41 (2005).

1 results. Accordingly, dividing the cost of the poll, $21,345, equally among the candidates
2 receiving the results, results in an allocation of 50% for each candidate for the poll cost, or 3 $10,672.50.

4 As stated previously, the Federal Committee, on July 13, 2004, reimbursed the State
5 Senate Committee for 50% of the cost of the poll, or $10,672.50 and disclosed the 6 reimbursement on its October 2004 Quarterly Report as it indicated it would in its response.

7 *See Attachment 4 at 5.*⁹

9 Therefore, we

10 recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that: (1) Liane Levetan, Levetan for 11 Senate and Dorothy E. Williams, in her official capacity as treasurer, Liane Levetan for Congress
12 and Dorothy E. Williams, in her official capacity as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441i(e)(1)(A)
13 and 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(d) by making and receiving a prohibited transfer; and (2) Liane Levetan
14 for Congress and Dorothy E. Williams, in her official capacity as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C.
15 § 434(b)(3)(B) by failing to disclose its receipt of the in-kind contribution from Liane Levetan
16 for Senate.

17 B. Television Advertising Disclosure

18 The Federal Committee acknowledges that it failed to properly disclose the correct
19 purpose for one of its disbursements for television advertising in its 2004 Pre-Primary Report.
20 Although the Federal Committee asserts that the disclosure report accurately reflects the two 21 disbursements to Media Strategies for the purchase of television advertising, each for $20,157, it

⁹ The Federal Committee amended its disclosure report in October 2004, within three months of the July 8, 2004 due date for the 2004 Pre-Primary Report

25044123221

1 admits that the entry for one of these disbursements incorrectly lists its purpose as "Production
2 (Media)" when both should have been listed as "TV-Cable Buy".¹⁰ However, the Federal 3 Committee did amend its 2004 Pre-Primary Report to reflect the correct purpose of the 4 "TV-Cable Buy" for the Media Strategies disbursement. Attachment 5.

5 Therefore, we recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that Liane Levetan
6 for Congress and Dorothy E. Williams, in her official capacity as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C.
7 §§ 434(b)(5) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(b)(4) in failing to report the correct purpose for its
8 expenditure to Media Strategies in its 2004 Pre-Primary Report but due to the de minimis nature
9 of the violation and the fact that the appropriate amended report was filed within a reasonable 10 time frame, take no further action.

11 C. Democratic Party Filing Fee Disclosure

12 The Federal Committee acknowledges that it failed to disclose an expenditure for 13 Levetan's Democratic Party filing fee, totaling $4,641.00, in its 2004 Pre-Primary Report in 14 violation of section 104.3(d). 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(d). It asserts that the Federal Committee listed
15 its debts and obligations on Schedule D of its 2004 Pre-Primary Report totaling $12,847.82, but 16 inadvertently omitted the amount of the Democratic Party filing fee.¹¹ The Federal Committee
17 stated that the filing fee of $4,641 would be included in the total of debts and obligations on the 18 Schedule D of its amended report and it has been so reflected in its 2004 Amended Pre-Primary

¹⁰ The complaint alleged that the Federal Committee failed to accurately disclose $17,088 in television airtime purchase in its Pre-Primary Report. We have reviewed the disclosure reports along with the Federal Committee's response. None of the Federal Committee's disclosure reports contain a disbursement to Media Strategies for the purchase of television airtime totaling $17,088. Rather, the Federal Committee's disbursements for the purchase of television airtime were made to Media Strategies for $20,157. Therefore, we can only conclude that the Complainant listed the incorrect amount for the disbursement at issue in its complaint. It appears that the correct amount for television airtime purchase at issue should be $20,157 versus the $17,088 alleged in the complaint.

¹¹ In addition, the Federal Committee noted that "debts and obligations need not be independently itemized since they are all amounts owed to Senator Levetan "

Report. Attachment 5 at 9.¹² The Federal Committee's amendment of its disclosure report was done within three months of the filing of the complaint.

Therefore, we recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that Liane Levetan for Congress and Dorothy E. Williams, in her official capacity as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(4) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(d) by failing to include the Democratic Party filing fee as a part of the outstanding debt total owed to Liane Levetan on Schedule D of its 2004 Pre-Primary Report but due to the de minimis nature of the violation and the fact that appropriate amended reports have been filed, take no further action.

III. DISCUSSION OF CONCILIATION PROVISIONS AND CIVIL PENALTY

¹² In addition, the Federal Committee also included, in its October 2004 Quarterly Report, a disbursement made to Levetan, totaling $4,641 00, as reimbursement for her initial payment of the Democratic Party filing fee Attachment 4 at 6.

25044123224

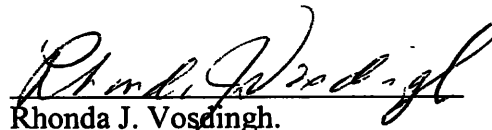

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS

Latest from the 4th District

07.16.04 @ 11:55:00

The primary is next Tuesday here in Georgia, and I thought I'd pass on what's been happening this week in the 4th Congressional District campaign.

First, since 2nd quarter reports were recently filed by the campaigns, let's talk money (with more on McKinney's money at the bottom):

Congressional candidate Cathy Woolard startled political observers today when she announced a fundraising tally of $411,773 for the quarter that concluded on June 30, with $273,952 of cash on hand — totals well in excess of the sums raised by any of her rivals for the Democratic nomination in the Fourth District.

"If people want to know who can hit the ground running in Congress, they can take one look at these figures and do the math," Woolard said. "We took this effort from a standing start to having a fully-funded budget in just three months, thanks to hard work and having the know-how to get the job done."

Rival candidate Liane Levetan, apparently forced to siphon money from personal funds to stay competitive, loaned her campaign $200,000 using her retirement account as collateral on the last day of the quarter [...] Woolard campaign consultant Beth Schapiro — a counselor to an array of noteworthy figures in Georgia politics — says the loan "is clearly risky. It shows incredible nervousness to leverage 40 percent of your retirement fund just to stay afloat for the last two weeks of a campaign."

“What makes this loan so inexplicable is that this race is clearly headed for a runoff,” says Beth Schapiro. “If Levetan has this tough a time running a campaign right now, what kind of shape can her supporters expect to find her in if she has to get back in the ring for round two?”

Meanwhile, Cathy Woolard filed state and federal ethics complaints against Levetan because of her usage of funds from one office to look into running for another office.

Levetan’s campaign said the survey — conducted by Virginia-based Cooper Secrest and Associates — evaluated her performance as state senator and as former DeKalb County CEO, as well as her chances in a newly drawn state Senate district and in the 4th Congressional District.

But Elaine Smith of Stone Mountain said she spent a half-hour on the phone with a Virginia-based pollster in April answering questions about Levetan.

The pollster did not mention Levetan’s stint as state senator or CEO, Smith said, but he did ask about her chances against other 4th District candidates.

“One thing that was very obvious was that the poll had to do with the 4th District congressional race,” Smith said.

Levetan’s campaign manager said Smith is “just wrong.”AJC: “4th District: A scramble for lead”

Hey, nothing like calling your constituents a liar! Perversely, Levetan’s campaign had one other response to this: “Levetan, a member of the state Senate Ethics Committee, maintains she has done nothing wrong. ‘Given the potential appearance of any impropriety, I have refunded [half] of the poll cost’ to her Senate campaign fund, she said Tuesday.”

She refunded half of the $21,345? Is she admitting she was half wrong? Or half right? And what would that make Elaine Smith of Stone Mountain, the woman they said was “just wrong.” Was she really only half wrong? Frankly, it’s a rather strange reaction. Either say there was no harm, no foul, no refund, or say, “to allay any such perception, all the money will be refunded.” Half measures leave you looking fully foolish.

I’ve read some poll numbers this week that seemed so flimsy (sample size of 500) they aren’t worth repeating here, so I can’t begin to predict what will happen next Tuesday. But it looks to me like a three way fight to get into a runoff, between McKinney, Levetan, and Woolard.

Political scientist William Boone of Clark Atlanta University says “The candidate who can get beyond their own base of support is the one who will end up the winner or wind up in a runoff.”

As a constituent of the 4th, I’ve either gotten mailings or seen TV ads from Levetan, Woolard, and Stokes. And a whole lot of yard signs for Chris Vaughn. The strategy of the McKinney campaign has been to focus on her “stronghold” in South Dekalb (the one that failed her in 2002 with horrible turnout numbers), and try to attract the youth vote through her “Hip Hop” initiative. There’s been no outreach to her former constituents in the northern part of the district, the ones who largely got her un-elected two years ago. Rather than attempt to mend fences, she appears to have written us off, and expects to be able to win with what she’s got.

But whoever gets elected will have to represent us all. I expect to hold them to that, no matter who gets the job. And I won't vote for someone whose very campaign tactics indicate she's only interested in half of us.

Later: Actually, it might be considerably less than half. I forgot to point out a comment by Karen Elliot: "According to her recently filed financial disclosures, nearly 90% of McKinney's bucks are from outside Georgia. This sharply contrasts with Woolard or Levetan (17% and 7% out-of-State money respectively)." Just like two years ago, except worse: "...Cynthia McKinney gets 78.2% of her individual contributions from out of state (individual contributions compose 72.7% of the $511,491 dollars raised). In the list of Zip Codes with the highest donations, the Top Ten contains exactly one within her district (mine's not even in the Top 15)." In fact, if you read over this year's list of donors, it's almost exactly like last time: "Most of McKinney's individual donors listed on disclosure reports in 2001 and this year have Arabic names and live out of state." [quote from the AJC]

1. So, will it be the fault of the Jews if she doesn't get elected this time, like it was last time?

Sheesh – 80% of her money from out-of-state – if you or I were running for office, wouldn't that tell you something if the area you were campaigning in wouldn't contribute at least 50% to your election?

Real good job on the Atlas thing, BTW. If I should ever need a picture of a killer lawyer, I know who to turn to... (grin)

Woolard goes on attack in House race

Lesbian candidate enters final stretch with most cash on hand

By RYAN LEE
Friday, July 16, 2004

Cathy Woolard is surging toward the finish line with nearly $273,000 remaining in her campaign war chest — ranking her second among the 4th Congressional District candidates who filed funding disclosures with the Federal Election Commission on June 30.

And in the final stretch, the campaign is heating up.

Woolard, a lesbian and former Atlanta City Council president, said this week that she was "appalled" to see that opponent state Sen. Liane Levetan (D-Atlanta) accepted a $300 contribution from Gary Sekulow, a Tucker resident who is the chief financial officer of the American Center for Law & Justice.

The ACLJ is a conservative legal group whose Web site includes messages supporting the anti-gay Federal Marriage Amendment.

"If you look at [ACLJ's] Web site, they are supporting just about anything a moderate-to-progressive Democrat would want to stay away from," Woolard said.

Mike Williams, a spokesperson for the Levetan campaign, said she accepted the contribution from Sekulow because his mother is a longtime friend of Levetan's family.

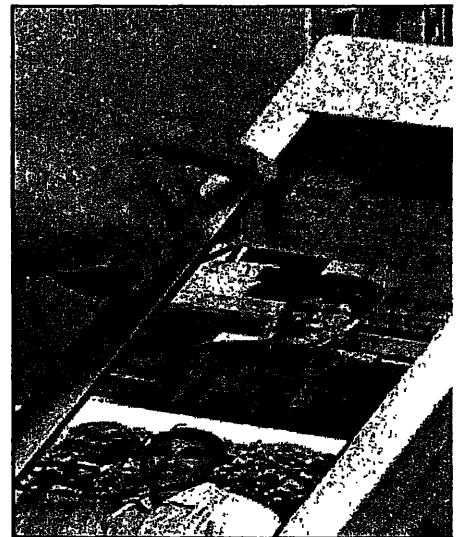

"Certainly she's concerned about [being linked with the conservative ACLJ], but she accepted the contribution more from a family friend than someone who belongs to a right-wing group," Williams said.

Williams said Levetan doesn't want the contribution to influence whether gay voters support her in the July 20 Democratic primary.

"She offered that if it were important enough, she would consider returning [the contribution]," Williams said.

Financial prowess

Levetan raised the most campaign cash for the race, according to the financial disclosure forms filed last month. But $200,000 of the $529,598 she received came from a personal loan she gave to her campaign, according to FEC records.

Levetan, a former DeKalb County CEO and commissioner, reported $306,565 remaining in campaign finances.

Woolard, who resigned as Atlanta City Council president in April to run for Congress, raised $411,773 and reported $273,952 on hand.

Cynthia McKinney, who occupied the 4th District seat for 10 years before losing in the 2002 Democratic primary, reported $73,690 remaining from the $251,039 she raised in the campaign.

State Sen. Connie Stokes (D-Decatur) reported raising $62,765, of which $20,820 remains on hand.

The other two candidates in the July 20 Democratic Primary, state Sen. Nadine Thomas and businessman Chris Vaughn, did not file financial reports by press time. The winner of the primary faces Republican Catherine Davis.

Field strong on gay issues

Woolard — who became the first openly gay elected official in Georgia by winning a seat on City Council in 1997 — is again looking to make history.

If elected, she would become the fourth openly gay person serving in Congress, and the first in the Deep South.

But Woolard is among a field of candidates that includes elected politicians with strong rec rights issues. And some of the candidates, including Levetan and Thomas, said they felt the Human Rights Campaign endorsed Woolard at its annual dinner in Atlanta in May.

Levetan, Stokes and Thomas all voted against a proposed constitutional amendment to ban same-sex couples earlier this year in the General Assembly. McKinney received a 100 percent approval rating from HRC during her years in office.

Thomas, a vocal opponent of the amendment and the only member of the Senate Rules Committee to speak and vote against the marriage ban for gay couples in the state legislature, said she abandoned by those for whom she went to battle.

"We stood up in the General Assembly in a hostile environment," Thomas said of the three who voted against the constitutional amendment, which eventually passed both chambers of the General Assembly. "You should never forget the people who stick with you."

The Georgia Stonewall Democrats encouraged its members to support state lawmakers who stood against the ban on marriage between same-sex couples. But the gay group has not decided to endorse a candidate in the 4th District race, said GSD Chair Bob Whitelaw.

Race a factor?

Charles Bullock, a political science professor at the University of Georgia, said race will play a role in who is elected, predicting that McKinney will likely defeat Stokes and Thomas for the African American vote, with Levetan and Woolard competing for white voters. The district, which includes parts of DeKalb County and some of southern Gwinnett County, is 51 percent black and the vote is "fairly racially polarized," Bullock said.

Levetan's experience as a DeKalb County commissioner, CEO and state legislator "might give her a leg-up on Woolard among white voters," Bullock said.

"Part of Woolard's problem is that an awful lot of people to whom she is well known, and who she has represented, are over in Fulton County," Bullock said.

In his estimation, Bullock named McKinney the slight favorite in the Democratic primary.

"Clearly McKinney has got a large constituency, and what the other candidates have to hope is that that constituency has eroded in the past couple of years," Bullock said. "I fully expect a runoff, and whoever gets in the runoff with McKinney has to hope that she can't reach beyond her base."

If no candidate receives 50 percent of the vote on July 20, the top two finishers will compete in an Aug. 10 runoff.

The battle between Woolard and Levetan grew hotter in recent days, after Woolard accused Levetan of violating ethics laws by using state Senate campaign funds to conduct a poll that, in part, asked about a possible run for Congress.

Woolard filed a state ethics complaint against Levetan this week. But Williams, a Levetan spokesman, dismissed the need for a further investigation.

"The bottom line is that it's a completely open issue — we've fully disclosed everything that we can and she has nothing to hide," Williams said.

Crotts for Congress?

State Sen. Mike Crotts (R-Conyers), who was the lead sponsor of the constitutional ban on gay couples in the General Assembly, holds the second highest amount of money remaining in the Republican primary for the 8th Congressional District seat.

Crotts raised $590,339, including a personal loan of $449,900, with $399,526 remaining in the race.

Dylan Glenn, an African American who worked in the White House and for Gov. Sonny Perdue, has the most money remaining, with $492,494 of the $1.12 million raised still on hand.

Glenn favors a constitutional ban on marriage for same-sex couples.

State Rep. Lynn Westmoreland (R-Newnan), who twice voted in favor of the marriage ban on gay couples earlier this year, reports $357,382 remaining from the $1.26 million he raised.

Debate tense for 4th rivals

McKinney defends past; Woolard pushes

Former U.S. Rep. Cynthia McKinney defended her controversial past, and Cathy Woolard went on the offensive against Liane Levetan during a 4th Congressional District television debate Sunday.

Six Democratic candidates in the July 20 primary are seeking the office being vacated by Rep. Denise Majette, who is running for U.S. Senate. In 2002, Majette won the seat after McKinney questioned whether Bush administration officials knew about terrorist threats before Sept. 11 but failed to act.

Asked how she could effectively represent the district, despite alienating many constituents, McKinney said she would "go back as one of the 218 votes needed to pass legislation" in the 435-member House.

In one of the hotter exchanges Sunday, Woolard, former Atlanta City Council president, accused Levetan of "a disturbing pattern of apparent ethics violations," including using state Senate campaign funds to pay for a poll about running for Congress.

"I did my poll while I was in the state Senate," Levetan acknowledged. "It was done as an assessment [of my performance as state senator] . . . as well as evaluating the opportunities."

Woolard fired back, "Ms. Levetan, that is clearly illegal."

The exchange was among the few fireworks during the hour-long debate, sponsored by the Atlanta Press Club and aired live by Georgia Public Broadcasting.

The candidates fielded questions about transportation issues, the war in Iraq, health care and education.

The tension was palpable between state Sens. Nadine Thomas and Connie Stokes after Stokes mentioned that Thomas lives outside the district.

"I have not violated any ethics issue," Thomas said icily.

Thomas and Woolard live outside the 4th District, which lies mostly in DeKalb County.

Members of Congress do not have to reside in the districts they represent.

Chris Vaughn, who has previously run for office as a Republican, was defensive when asked about his switch two years ago to the Democratic Party.

He became so combative during an exchange with Levetan that, when it was time for her rebuttal, she said, "I think we should just leave him alone."
